WOMEN ON BOARD WRECKED SHIP MET DEATH CALMLY

SEATTLE, Jan. 26.—"No, I won't go. A true sailor never deserts his ship. I'm going to stay by the Valencia. But God bless and speed you."

These were the words spoken to Walter Raymond, of the officers' mess, by a Bellingham woman whose name he did not learn, as he hurried by her. They were just launching the last life raft from the big ship and Raymond, as he started for it, stopped long enough to urge her to go too.

As he continued along forward he met Mrs. Mary Musgrove, the stewardess, who, he said, "was the greatest hero on board." As Raymond paused a moment before taking his plunge into the water, she spoke to him and said "Are you going, Walter?" He nodded his head and the woman, smiling bravely at him, opened her lips and sang, "Nearer, My God, to Thee," as the man, steadying himself as best he could on the quivering ship, leaped upon the rail and jumped out into the sea toward the tossing raft.

"As I went down, down, down," said Raymond to a reporter today, "the words of that song kept ringing in my ears. I had never sung nor spoken to God in my life. It is strange what thoughts a man will have at such a time, but I could not help saying to myself "I am nearer to him now than I ever was before. God pity me."

"It seemed to me that I would never again reach the top of the water. I had just sense enough left not to breathe and all the time my lungs kept paining until I thought they would surely break. All of a sudden, I popped [illegible] was."

"Just a moment I floated, content to inhale all the oxygen I could. I, some way, did not seem to realize my position. When I did I looked for the raft, and it was full 50 feet from me. I gave up then for the first time. I was nearly through, and I never could have swam that distance—never.

"But Mary Musgrove's (God bless her) song and prayer must have gone with me. I was lifted by a gigantic wave and fairly hurled through the air. I landed squarely on top of the boys on the raft and they grabbed me. I know no more until I found myself being hauled aboard the City of Topeka.

"But don't think for a minute, we left those women of our own free will. There were only six left when I quit the ship and Captain Johnson begged them all to go. I'll admit some of the men may be, wouldn't have been as considerate, but what could they do when officers with drawn revolvers insisted that the women be given the first chance?

"They refused absolutely. They had seen scores of women swept to their death in boats. They could not realize that the vessels we could see lying in the offing could not reach us. They kept saying help would surely come, so they clung to the riggings and went down to the end. The Valencia could not have lasted a half hour after we left her.

"Now, I don't want to blame anyone. I know every person who came to our assistance did everything they could, but I will go to my grave convinced that if the effort had been made, a line could have been shot aboard us. Of course, the captains of the rescuing ships did not know, but they could with perfect safety have come within 200 feet of me. They had deep water and plenty of it up to that distance. All we wanted was a line, and yet they did not come anywhere near.

"Of course they did not know, but we did, and when the Queen finally turned and sailed away, well, to my dying day I will hear the wailing of the women and the curses of the men.

"Now, I just want to say a word for the women. They were heroines, every one of them. [illegible] were the bravest on board, and at no time did I hear a murmur from any of them. Captain Johnson was calm, collected and cool through it all. He was everywhere doing everything he could. He had a revolver in his pocket and he would have used it, too, if the women had accepted the chance to go on that last life raft and the men had crowded forward to prevent them from doing so."

HAPGOOD IS NOT GUILTY

SO DECLARES JURY IN NEW YORK CRIMINAL LIBEL SUIT CASE ENDS

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—[illegible] Norman Hapgood, editor of Collier's Weekly [illegible] Justice [illegible]

TWO DECISIONS AFFECTING RATES

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION SUSTAINS DENVER'S COMPLAINT OF UNJUST DISCRIMINATION.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Two decisions affecting the rates on cotton piece goods, which were the subject of complaints by George J. Kindel, one against the Boston & Albany Railroad company and other railroads forming through lines from eastern points to Denver, and the other against the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad company and others, were announced by the Interstate Commerce commission today. In the case of the former road, the commission rules that the fact that a carload rating has been established on cotton piece goods from the east to Pacific coast points because of water competition and the fact that [illegible] given carload rates to Salt Lake City and Denver to encourage manufacturing industries at those points, while elsewhere throughout the country the rate on cotton piece goods is the same for any quantity, does not indicate that the action of the carriers in denying a carload rating on tickings, drills and sheeting to Denver is unlawful. As regards the rate per 100 pounds on cotton piece goods, the commission decides that the result of the excessive rates on cotton piece goods between the Missouri river and Denver and the application of the full locals in making up the through combination rate from New York, Boston and other eastern points, taking the same rates to Denver, is to make the through rate excessive and that such rates to Denver to be reasonable should not exceed $1.50 per 100 pounds.

It is stated that the same ruling applies to the New York, New Hampshire & Hartford railroad and others, except that they deny the reparation on the shipment involved in that case.

MUTINY AT VLADIVOSTOK HAS BROKEN OUT AFRESH

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 26.—That there has been a renewal of the mutiny at Vladivostok was confirmed by a dispatch from that city filed Thursday and received here late tonight.

This dispatch indicates that the mutiny, which began last Monday, has not been subdued and that the situation is far more serious than during the outbreak in November, as the mutineers include both sailors and artillerists, who are in possession of the Holy Innocent battery and are well armed with rifles and machine guns as well as having many fortress guns.

General Mistchenko, who had been sent to deal with the mutineers, the dispatch adds, has no easy task, as the Cossacks given him are ill-suited for capturing a fortified position. It declares that the promises of immediate transportation home for the men with which the government ended the former revolt are now scarcely effective.

The telegram, which bears evidence of having been carefully edited, says nothing about the numbers of the mutineers or of the attitude of the garrison as a whole. The dispatch indicates that General Linevitch is distrustful.

The number of casualties in a fight on Tuesday, when a column of sailors advancing on the commander's house was scattered by machine guns, is not stated in the dispatch and there is no mention in it of excesses or the destruction of property.

A report that General Selivanoff, the commander of the army corps at Vladivostok, had been wounded is not confirmed.

The war department officials are unable to give particulars of the seriousness of the mutiny, which is due to the reserves who are thoroughly undisciplined and are clamoring for their immediate transportation home, though the government has given them precedence over the Transsiberian railroad in addition to chartering all the available steamers for this purpose.

SHONTS GETS $42,000 A YEAR

ADMITS THAT HE DRAWS $12,000 ANNUALLY FROM CLOVER LEAF RAILROAD.

UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT PAYS HIM $30,000, APPEARS BEFORE SENATE COMMITTEE.

WASHINGTON [illegible] draws $125,000 [illegible] Clover Leaf [illegible] Shonts, chairman [illegible] canal [illegible]

Mr. Shonts was [illegible] today [illegible] of all [illegible] controls [illegible] former [illegible] that he had [illegible] Clover Leaf route [illegible] and the fact [illegible] $30,000 a year [illegible] States the chairman [illegible] was allowed [illegible] by members [illegible] that who [illegible] question of [illegible] admitted that the [illegible] for the importation [illegible] Shonts expressed [illegible] commission [illegible] but said severe [illegible] service [illegible]

"No matter how [illegible]" he said "there are [illegible] which the United States exercise control—the [illegible] zone and the sanitation [illegible]

In reply to questions by Senator Morgan, Mr. Shonts [illegible] had been sufficient [illegible] the work until July [illegible] the dirt [illegible] and from 2,000 [illegible] were all that [illegible] under the [illegible] concerning the division of [illegible] maintaining the railroad. Mr. Shonts said that all that part [illegible] railroad business [illegible] canal work should be borne by the railroad business, exclusive [illegible] and other work. Even the [illegible] wharves should be paid from canal funds.

Senator Gorman conducted an extended examination of the witness concerning conditions at the time Mr. Wallace surrendered charge of the work and Mr. Stevens took control. He showed that Mr. Stevens had increased the payroll from 5,000 to 12,000 men in three months without doing anything toward digging the canal. Concerning the expenditure of $500,000 by Mr. Wallace to estimate the cost of removing the dirt from Culebra cut, which had been declared by the present officials far from what will be the real cost, Mr. Shonts said:

"If Mr. Wallace had received no equipment from the French company and had had to wait for suitable equipment, he would have spent the time in improving sanitation and for the care of laborers. Then he would have seen that fair-weather estimates for the moving of dirt would vary from the costs of moving it under other conditions."

[illegible] of women, the witness said, had been brought about by the assurance that better laborers could be obtained if their families were taken to the isthmus.

REVOLUTIONARIES ARE STILL ACTIVE

SEVERE ENCOUNTERS OCCUR IN SEVERAL RUSSIAN TOWNS. REVOLT BREAKS OUT IN CAUCASIA.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 26.—Railroad communication with the Caucasus generally has been restored. The revolutionists of Guria and Mingrelia are retiring to the mountains, obstinately resisting the advance of the troops. The revolutionists who were driven from Kwirila rallied yesterday and fought a regular battle, advancing on the troops. Other severe encounters are reported. Several towns besides Kwirila are in flames.

A revolution has broken out in northern Caucasia.

Advices from Ekaterinoslav, south Russia, say that the inhabitants of several villages in that vicinity have been rioting and [illegible] in various excesses, making it necessary to employ artillery to subdue them. The government has been relaxing its repressive measures since January 22. Many of the persons arrested have been released and the right of assembly will be restored.

Father Gapon, who had been warned not to appear in St. Petersburg until January 23, is returning to Russia.

Leniency will be shown in the case of the sentence imposed upon Prof. Hodski and M. Katelnikoff, editors of the Nasha Shisn, for publishing the manifesto of the workmen's council. They will be let off with fines of $250 instead of a term of imprisonment, to which Alexis Alexievitch Souvorin, editor of the Russ, was sentenced.

HALLETT REFUSES TO DOCKET CASE

TURNS CASE INVOLVING USE OF DOCKED HORSES BACK TO DISTRICT COURT.

DENVER, Jan. 26.—Basing his ruling on the fact that the defendants were not charged in the information against them with importing or exporting docked horses, but keeping and using docked horses within the state and, therefore, could not claim any protection under the interstate commerce laws, United States Judge Moses T. Hallett today refused to docket the case against N. H. Hilzer, C. E. Stubbs and Dr. Sherman Williams, brought by the state bureau of child and animal protection in the district court.

The district court had overruled the demurrer of the defendants and had also denied their petition for a removal to the federal court.

Judge Hallett declared that the state supreme court had already passed upon the constitutionality of the state law forbidding the maintenance and driving of unregistered docked horses. Regarding the plea that the state law was in violation of the interstate commerce acts, Judge Hallett further said that it mattered not whether the horses came from other states or were from within the state. As soon as they were in the state and were maintained here, the owners became amenable to the state laws. The defendants must now stand trial in the district court.

STOCK TRANSFER LAW IS CONSTITUTIONAL.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—The constitutionality of the stock transfer tax law of New York state was affirmed today by a decision of the appellate division of the supreme court. About $5,000,000 annual taxes were added to the state revenues by the decision. The case decided was a test action brought against Albert A. Hatch, a stock broker, who was charged with having sold and delivered shares of railroad stock without paying the tax required by this law.

HOUSE CONSIDERS DEFICIENCY BILL

DEMOCRATS ATTEMPT TO DEFEAT CLAUSE WAIVING 8-HOUR LAW FOR CANAL WORK.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—The first attempt at filibustering at this session occurred in the house today in a Democratic endeavor to defeat the provision of the urgent deficiency bill waiving the eight-hour law for foreign laborers on the Panama canal. The amendment was placed in the bill in committee of the whole after the house had divided many times on every pretext which Minority Leader Williams could make to cause a vote. When the bill, to which the amendment was proposed, was finally finished, late in the day, a demand for a separate vote and roll call on that amendment was made and ordered, at which time the house adjourned. The vote will occur tomorrow. The amendment was ruled out of the bill on a point of order on Tuesday and its insertion today was effected under the provision of a special rule brought in [illegible] for that purpose. A roll call was had on the previous question on the rule, which was a test vote, and it was carried by 153 to 98, the Democrats making up the minority vote.

The only other controversy of the day resulted from an attempt to increase by $115,000 the amount for meat inspection by the department of agriculture. This increase was refused after an animated debate.

NEW FOREST RESERVE ESTABLISHED IN UTAH

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—The forest service of the department of agriculture today announced the establishment on the eastern boundary of Utah of a new forest reserve to be known as La Sal forest reserve, having an acreage of 158,462 acres. The tract lies between the Grand and Dolores rivers and extends a few miles over the state line into Colorado. [illegible] reserve is the La Sal range, containing peaks of from 12,500 to 13,000 feet, and a part of the long eastern slopes from those mountains.

PACKERS IN THE ROLE OF BRIBERS

Indicted Heads of Beef Trust Employ Underhanded Tactics to Defeat Ends of Justice—President Roosevelt Gives Out Important Correspondence Bearing on Case.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—By authority of President Roosevelt, correspondence was made public at the White House tonight relating to methods alleged to have been employed by attorneys for the beef packers who are under indictment at Chicago, to influence public opinion in behalf of the packers. The documents consist of a communication made to Attorney General Moody by United States District Attorney Morrison of Chicago, setting out certain alleged facts regarding the payment of a sum of money to a Chicago newspaper reporter by one of the attorneys of the beef packers; a letter from the attorney general to the president transmitting Mr. Morrison's report, expressing the opinion that no way existed under the law by which the alleged offense could be punished, and a letter from the president to the attorney general directing the publication of the correspondence in order that the public might be informed of one situation, at least, which the government has to meet in prosecuting the case against the packers.

The correspondence in full follows with the exception of certain exhibits [illegible] which were not furnished.

"Office of the Attorney General, Washington, January 25, 1906.

"Sir,—I forward herewith the report of Mr. Morrison, the United States attorney at Chicago, showing that one of the counsel for the defendants in the indictment against the beef packers has given a sum of money to a reporter of the Chicago Inter Ocean engaged in reporting the proceedings in that case and unsuccessfully attempting to give a sum of money to another reporter of the City Press of Chicago, who declined to receive it. In view of the fact that the articles of the [illegible] of the Inter Ocean have been misleading, contain many false statements of fact, and have been circulated widely throughout the country, I deem it proper to bring the subject to your attention.

"I await your instructions with reference to the subject if you have any to give.

"Very respectfully,
"WILLIAM H. MOODY,
"Attorney General."

"Department of Justice, office of United States Attorney, Northern District of Illinois, Chicago, Jan. 16, 1906.

"The Attorney General, Washington;

"Sir:

"I have the honor to say that on the 27th day of December, 1905, Judge George W. Brown, who is one of the attorneys for the packers in the beef trust case, gave to a Mr. Hasler, who is a reporter for the Inter Ocean and who reports the proceedings of the beef trust case, a certain amount of money, ostensibly as a Christmas present, the [illegible] directed him to give one hundred dollars of it to a Mr. Elwell, who is a reporter for the City Press of Chicago and who is also detailed to report the court proceedings in this case, and whose reports are used by all of the newspapers of Chicago and largely by the Associated Press. Mr. Hasler had intimated to Mr. Elwell before the day that he was going to receive a present and on that day met him in the corridor of the federal building and handed him one hundred dollars. Mr. Elwell declined to take it and he pushed it into his pocket with Judge Brown's card and told Mr. Elwell that Judge Brown had sent it to him. Elwell went to his employer and told him about it, and his employer told him to take the money and give it to Judge Brown, which he did, and Judge Brown told him that he did not mean anything by it; that he just wanted to make him a Christmas present. I then requested Captain Porter to have an interview with Mr. Hasler, which he did, and I herewith inclose a report of Captain Porter's interview, marked exhibit "A."

"On the fourth of January there appeared in The Inter Ocean the article which I herewith inclose marked exhibit "B." This article was also sent with Captain Porter's report to Chief Wilkie.

"This morning an article appears in The Inter Ocean, a copy of which I herewith inclose you, marked exhibit "C."

"The Inter Ocean circulates quite generally among the farmers, perhaps more so than any other Chicago daily. The jury impaneled to try the immunity issues appeared in court yesterday morning, but owing to the illness of Mr. Hines the hearing was postponed until 2 o'clock today. The jury has been at large since they were first impaneled.

"After Judge Brown knew that I was familiar with the facts he came to the

MORE AUTOMOBILE RECORDS BROKEN

ORMONDE, Fla., Jan. 26.—All world's records for the kilometer and for the mile were broken in the automobile tournament here today. The new figures place the mile for cars of all powers at 28 1-5 seconds and for the kilometer at 18 2-5 seconds. Both new records were made by Fred Marriott driving a cigar-shaped steamer.

Louis Chevrolet lowered the mile figures for gasoline cars to 30 3-5, driving the 200-horse power machine formerly in charge of the recalcitrant Hemery. The same driver lowered the kilometer record for gasoline cars to 19 2-5 seconds.

The middleweight car record for the kilometer was lowered by Vaughn to 25 seconds and the middleweight record for the mile was brought down to 40 3-5 seconds.

HADLEY FINISHES HIS WORK AT CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 26.—The taking of depositions in the Standard Oil hearing was finished here this afternoon insofar as Attorney General Hadley of Missouri, who has been conducting the investigation, was able to proceed at the present time. When the last bit of evidence had been given, Mr. Hadley asked that an adjournment be taken until February 20, for the purpose, as he stated, of holding the case open for further testimony. Mr. Hadley said that he might wish to obtain the testimony of W. E. Judd and W. T. McKee, the present officers of the Republic Oil company, who are absent from the city. Mr. Hadley said that he was well satisfied with the results of his work here and that the case against the Standard Oil company in Missouri had been greatly strengthened by the evidence which had been brought out in the last two days. Mr. Hadley left tonight for home.

RUBE SMITH WINS AN EASY VICTORY

DENVER, Jan. 26.—Rube Smith of Denver won from Spider Welch of San Francisco in the third round of a bout scheduled for ten rounds at the Democratic club tonight. Welch was dying on the mat practically out when the gong sounded for the close of the second round. His second carried him to his corner and revived him sufficiently to enable him to respond for the third round. Welch was groggy as he walked slowly toward Smith and the latter landed a series of blows to the body and suddenly whipped a right to the jaw, sending Welch heavily to the mat. His seconds threw up the sponge. Welch was unable to rise and had to be carried to his corner.

No Home Should Be Without a Piano

The piano is no longer a luxury in the home. While it represents more money than many single articles, it gives more in return for the outlay. Under the hands of even an ordinary player, it provides entertainment for family and friends, makes home more attractive for the children, and develops a refinement and culture that cannot be obtained from books alone.

Under the modern system of education, a knowledge of music is today as much a part of the education for both boys and girls as a knowledge of grammar, arithmetic or any ordinary study, and with it comes the demand for a piano.

How about you? Are you depriving your growing sons and daughters of the advantages of a piano in the home for reasons of economy?

If so, permit us to urge upon you the propriety of investigating our easy payment system of piano selling. A small payment down and a little each week or month will place a piano in your home now.

We have bargains here that will save you dollars in the purchase of a piano. Instruments that we can recommend and back them up with the strongest guarantee.

office to see me. He had learned that we knew about the matter. His explanation was that complimentary articles had been written about him in the papers and he thought Mr. Elwell wrote them and that he gave the money to Elwell out of gratitude for what he said. I don't remember any articles especially complimentary to him, but am having the matter looked up to see whether there were or were not. Judge Brown also admitted to me that he gave Hasler money at the same time to retain for himself. The amount that he gave Hasler was not stated. Judge Brown stated that the money he gave was his own money and that his clients knew nothing about it. We are this morning considering the question as to whether we will lay the matter before the editor of The Inter Ocean, Mr. Garfield and I laid the matter before Judge Humphrey in his rooms.

"I beg to call your attention to the fact that the jury returned yesterday morning and remained in Chicago over night and had every opportunity to read the article published in this morning's Inter Ocean. Respectfully yours,

"C. B. MORRISON,
"United States Attorney."

"Department of Justice, Office of United States Attorney, Northern District of Illinois, Chicago, Jan. 10, 1906.

"Exhibit A:

"John E. Wilkie, Chief United States Secret Service Treasury Department.

"Sir—After showing him an article—the one inclosed herewith—asked him if he wrote it. He said he did. I asked him why, etc., and he failed to make a satisfactory reply, asking me if I knew whether or not Secretary of State Root told Attorney General Moody and the president that the government had made a fatal error in forcing the packers to give up their secrets and that the packers are entitled to immunity, etc. I told him I knew nothing about the matter at all. He then said for me to find out if Mr. Root did not so state to the president, as well as to Mr. Moody, and then he would tell me about this money transaction. He said he did hand money to a reporter at the time and place mentioned, but he would not, at the present time, tell me why he did it, nor from whom he obtained the money. He was very bitter against the president and attorney general for the manner in which Secretary Morton and the Santa Fe Railway company were let off, etc. He further said the department of justice is very corrupt, and that if he dared to do so, he would write it up, etc. I told him I would like to know from whom the money came and for what purpose, and asked him to tell, but he refused, saying to go ahead and find out all I could and when the proper time comes he will tell all about it and probably write it up, although when he does so, we will be disappointed, as there is nothing to it. I reported the result of my interview to Mr. Morrison, etc."

"The White House, Washington, Jan. 26, 1906.

"Sir—In view of the fact that there seems to be no opportunity for action in the courts against the counsel of the beef packers, who, it appears from District Attorney Morrison's statement, has been guilty of bribing a reporter, the reporter having disseminated false and misleading statements as to the case against the beef trust—it seems to me that the only course left is to publish Mr. Morrison's letter and the other documents in the case. This I direct to be done. Extraordinary efforts have been made in this case, as in one or two similar cases, to poison the public mind by the dissemination of false and misleading statements, and it is right that the public should know why and how their circulation is secured.

"Very truly yours,
"THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

"Hon. William H. Moody, Attorney General."

WISDOM ABOUT WISDOM TEETH

Maybe you are just getting "wise" to the fact that the coming in of the four Wisdom Teeth, especially during hot weather, is no picnic, and that it might be well to consult Colorado Springs' leading and scientific dentist regarding a little treatment to make the worry less. These four Wisdom Teeth, two uppers and two lowers, appear normally between the ages of seventeen and twenty-five, though much annoyance is often caused all during life by their frequent "tipping" or the gums growing over the teeth, giving the same soreness and annoyance as when they first come through. When the "wisdom" gained demands too great a price in pain, come to us for a little treatment to allay the soreness. Consultation is free. Better come today. MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP THEME OF STATE SENATOR J. A. RUSH

[illegible]

Makes a Discovery.

Roosevelt's Square Deal.

"The line between Roosevelt Republicans and Bryan Democrats has become so thin as to be almost invisible," declared the senator. "The policy of a square deal as expounded by Roosevelt is in the interest of the people of the nation, and was first advocated by William Jennings Bryan. You have noticed the agitation that is extending throughout the country against the special privilege class. It is due to the fact that corporations in control of public utilities have used the power they have secured to oppress the people. Municipal ownership is but one of the parts of this great movement resulting from the agitation."

Kansas City Results.

During a recent trip east the speaker stopped in Kansas City to investigate the question of municipal ownership. Kansas City purchased its water plant in 1895 at a cost of something less than $3,000,000. Since that time it has paid for extending the system, has paid the interest upon its bonds, reduced the cost of water furnished to the people, and the city has free hydrant water. The city has been offered $9,000,000 for the system. Mayor Neff, who was elected as a Republican opposed to the idea, was also a strong supporter of municipal ownership. "At street lights using electricity generated by steam were furnished for $55 per annum for each arc while here in Colorado Springs with gravity water pressure you pay $68 per arc. The tramway company in Kansas City pays to the municipality in royalties, taxes, etc., the total sum of $250,000 per annum.

Conditions in Chicago.

Chicago has owned its water plant since 1853 and has spent considerable money for pumping stations, intakes, cribbing and piping, but notwithstanding all of its heavy expense, the water system has paid into the sewer department the sum of $1,000,000 and now has over two and one-half millions of dollars cash on hand; it is the only department that always has cash on hand with which to meet its obligations. This city also owns its street lighting system using power generated by steam, for which coal is bought at a cost of $2.50 per ton. Where the city paid $250 per arc light per annum under private ownership the cost now is $54 per arc light under municipal ownership.

Cheaper Lights.

Detroit is a city that has owned its own water plant since 1852 and is now furnishing water to the people at less [illegible]

Their City's Mistake.

New National Party?

"How can you expect municipal ownership of public utilities so long as the public utility corporations control the city councils and the state governments? The corporations are not content with taking our money but they afterwards use it to corrupt the courts, debauch the legislature and subsidize the councils." Senator Rush then scored the supreme court and the action of the legislature at the last session. "I want to see the day come when Folk of Missouri and La Follette of Michigan with Bryan and Roosevelt will get together and organize a new party upon the square deal principle." In conclusion the speaker invited the entire audience to visit the Democratic club where refreshments would be served.

A handsome bunch of carnations was presented to Senator Rush at the conclusion of his address. A resolution indorsing the course of Alderman Albin in the city council was adopted and the meeting adjourned.

CHILDREN POISONED.

Many children are poisoned and made nervous and weak, if not killed outright by mothers giving them cough syrups containing opiates. COULD NOT REST NIGHT OR DAY

With Irritating Skin Humor—Whole Body Affected—Scalp Itched All the Time and Hair Began to Fall Out—Wonderful Result From

APPLICATION OF CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I am never without Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment since I tried them last summer. About the latter part of July my whole body began to itch. I did not take much notice of it at first, but it began to get worse all the time, and then I began to get uneasy and tried all kinds of baths and other remedies that were recommended for skin humors; but I became worse all the time. My hair began to fall out and my scalp itched all the time. Especially at night, just as soon as I would get in bed and get warm, my whole body would begin to itch and my finger nails would keep it irritated, and it was not long before I could not rest night or day. A friend asked me to try the Cuticura Remedies, and I did, and the first application helped me wonderfully. For about four weeks I would take a hot bath every night and then apply the Cuticura Ointment to my whole body; and I kept getting better, and by the time I used four boxes of Cuticura I was entirely cured, and my hair stopped falling out; but I continue to use the Cuticura on my scalp. It keeps all dandruff out and scalp is always clean. I always use Cuticura Ointment on my face after shaving, and have found nothing to equal it. I will never be without it." D. E. Blankenship,
319 N. Del St.,
Oct. 27, 1905. Indianapolis, Ind.

RECOMMENDED TO ALL MOTHERS

"I have used Cuticura Ointment for chafing of infants, and as they grew older all skin diseases were given treatment with that and the Cuticura Soap. I never found it necessary to call a doctor, as these Remedies are a sure cure, if used as directed. I am glad to recommend them to all mothers." Sincerely yours, Mrs. F. A. Kennard,

TYNDALL WILL TELL OF MYSTERIOUS ELIXIR

We are about the most these days, of certain peculiar beliefs and happenings that were supposed to be shrouded in mystery and beyond the comprehension of the common minded. Among other weird questions and traditions is the one of the philosopher's stone, and the elixir of life, the knowledge of which was supposed to be possessed by the alchemists, and the use of which was said to prolong youth. This subject will be discussed in Majestic hall tomorrow (Sunday) night by Dr. Alexander J. McIvor-Tyndall, the famous educator along mystical lines.

Dr. McIvor-Tyndall's teachings are said to be thoroughly practical, and capable of every-day application, to the financial as well as the moral advantage of his auditors and students, but he frankly confesses to a belief in the existence of the famed "elixir," and further states that he not only believes in it, but has actually proven its power. The discourse should be one of extraordinary attraction, as we doubtless have a few persons in Colorado Springs who would like to test the efficacy of that magic "elixir."

Dr. McIvor-Tyndall can always find himself confronting the largest audiences of representative people that ever favored a speaker here, for so long a time, and each evening finds an increasing number of interested listeners, until it has become necessary to provide extra seating accommodations and also close the doors of Majestic hall promptly at 8 o'clock.

For tomorrow evening an added attraction will be the demonstration by the noted scientist of the experiment in thought-transference that resulted in the death of Bishop the mind reader.

Societies and Clubs

Golden Rod camp, R. N. of A., will meet in K. of P. hall this evening for the installation of officers. Visitors are welcome.

LECTURE—Professor L. C. Carpenter, of the State Agricultural college at Fort Collins, will lecture on the "Kansas-Colorado Case and the Questions Involved," tonight at 8:30 o'clock in the Coburn library at the Polytechnic society.

A COLORADO SPRINGS CASE

Many More Like It in Colorado Springs.

The following case is but one of many similar occurring daily in Colorado Springs. It is an easy matter to verify its correctness. Surely you cannot ask for better proof than such conclusive evidence.

E. E. Griswold, bookkeeper at A. H. Whaite & Co.'s clothing store, 18 and 20 South Tejon street, residing at 316 E. Huerfano street, says: "I just as emphatically endorse Doan's Ointment today as I did in the summer of 1896 when using it according to directions it stopped an aggravated case of hemorrhoids, commonly called piles. Before I went there I had used everything which came to my notice and had been treated by physicians, but the trouble was not even checked, let alone cured. Doan's Ointment is a remedy upon which the public can depend. I have used it on several occasions since and it has never failed to bring immediate relief. I have it constantly on hand and would not take ten times the amount it costs for the box I have on hand if I knew it could not be easily purchased. I have recommended Doan's Ointment to others who, I know, have received beneficial results."

Plenty more proof like this from Colorado Springs people. Call at D. Y. Butcher Drug Co.'s store and ask what their customers report.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Children have tender stomachs

Most Physics are Dangerous

A child's stomach is tender and cannot digest food as well as an adult's, and neither can it stand the aggressive purgatives which adults are often compelled to take for constipation and other stomach troubles. Many parents give their children cathartics, salts, or the ordinary pills and tablets, that are pleasant to take because of their taste. A child that is dosed with such cathartics soon forms a habit which in many instances means a permanent loss of health. A larger dose will be required to move the bowels. Children do not object to taking as it tastes as good as even the most palatable candy preparations, and the effect upon them is a thousand times more beneficial. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a cure for all stomach disorders. It is the very best cure for children and adults, as it does not create a habit. It does cure.

In all cases of indigestion, dyspepsia, chronic or acute constipation, biliousness, and all other disorders arising from stomach trouble of any kind it is a quick and positive cure. All druggists sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin for 50c and $1.00 a bottle.

THE HAPGOOD-TOWN TOPICS CASE.

THE JURY in the Town Topics case yesterday returned a verdict acquitting Norman Hapgood, editor of Collier's Weekly, of the charge of criminal libel. Of course. How could it be possible to libel anybody responsible for the publication of such a despicable blackmailing sheet as Town Topics has been shown to be? It is not surprising that the jury was out only ten minutes.

Justice Joseph M. Deuel, plaintiff in the suit and part owner of Town Topics, was not more scathingly denounced by the attorneys for the defense than he was by District Attorney Jerome, who helped [illegible] the case. In his closing argument to the jury Mr. Jerome said: "I will not attempt to disguise from you the utter loathing and contempt I feel for some of the witnesses whom I myself have introduced." He declared his belief that Mr. Hapgood had done that which he ought to have done and which I might have done in his place with more heat and more vim than he displayed." When a prosecutor as conscientious as Jerome is known to be makes such statements about his own witnesses and the defendant there is not much room for doubt [illegible] the minds of the jurors.

But even if the District Attorney had followed an exactly opposite course it is difficult to see how the verdict could have been otherwise. By his own confessions and those of his business associate Colonel Mann, the editor of Town Topics, Justice Deuel stood convicted of [illegible] thousand times more heinous than anything Hapgood had charged. In the words of Mr. Jerome "Justification of the editorial denouncing Justice Deuel means that Deuel was part owner of the paper, censor and reviser of proof, and that the paper which he edited in part exacts money and publishes [illegible]. It is alleged that it threatened to make public the family skeletons of society people unless given money." The [illegible] whom these charges were proved is a justice of the Court of Special Sessions in New York—think of a high court presided over by a [illegible] blackmailer and scandalmonger!

The most surprising thing about the case is that Deuel ever had the effrontery to bring an action for libel against the editor who denounced him. The blackmailer is usually afraid to seek vindication in the courts, for he knows perfectly well that the light of publicity is absolutely fatal to his operations. Nine times out of ten he runs to cover when exposed, but Deuel probably reasoned that his official prominence made an attempt at vindication necessary, so he filed suit. But he stood on exceedingly dangerous ground, for the publication of which he is part owner and manager has long borne a shady reputation, which became a great deal worse last summer when the "Fads and Fancies" blackmailing scheme came to light. It was the easiest thing in the world for Hapgood's attorneys to prove in court what everybody already virtually knew, namely, that the sheet known as Town Topics existed on blackmail, that it was conducted almost exclusively for blackmailing purposes, and that Justice Deuel, as one of its owners and managers, was bound to be partly responsible for its methods. When Deuel brought suit against Hapgood he simply took the only step necessary to prove everything that Hapgood had charged and more too. He should at least have had more common sense.

FOREIGN COMMERCE IN 1905.

WHEN WILL the high tide of our national prosperity be reached? This question has been asked every year since 1897, when the re-establishment of Republican power again brought good times to the country. There have been prophets of good and prophets of evil. The former have predicted that the remarkable prosperity would continue indefinitely, and the Jeremiahs have declared that it would end within a twelvemonth. Five years ago the Bryanites solemnly warned the people that unless the mad course of imperialism was checked the result would be dire disaster, but in spite of all gloomy forebodings the country has gone on in the same way, getting richer and richer, selling more and more goods both within its own boundaries and to the outside world. Our commerce has reached stupendous totals, and still there is no sign that the high-water mark has been attained. Providence has aided the energetic American farmer in growing each year larger crops than he had the year before, and when big crops and big commerce come at the same time the combination spells prosperity in capital letters.

It is easy enough to grasp the meaning of millions, but when we begin to talk in billions the average person is liable to get a little dazed. Yet the foreign commerce of the United States long ago attained such a prodigious total that its value in dollars can only be expressed in numerals followed by nine ciphers. These facts and figures are interestingly set forth in a report just issued by the Bureau of Statistics of the Department of Commerce and Labor. In 1900 the total volume of our foreign commerce, meaning thereby the combined exports and imports, was valued at $2,307,000,000. In 1905 it was $2,806,000,000, showing an average annual increase of $100,000,000 in the five years. Nor does this tell the whole story. Last year the United States did business amounting to nearly $100,000,000 with Hawaii and Porto Rico, which is counted as domestic commerce. If this sum was added to the amount of last year's foreign commerce it would give a total only a little short of a round three billions. If the rate of increase which has prevailed in the last few years is maintained in 1906 the [illegible] will [illegible] doubtless reach even that colossal sum.

The growth of American export [illegible] is one of the most marvelous developments in the recent history of the world's commerce. It has increased from [illegible] for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1895, to [illegible] for the year ended June 30, 1905, a gain of nearly 100 per cent. This has been accomplished in spite of the same competition in the world's markets of Great Britain and Germany, both of which have increased their foreign sales almost as fast as we have increased ours. The British, who until two years ago have always held the commercial supremacy of the world, have at length been surpassed by both Americans and Germans, and the situation is now completely changed. Great Britain is virtually out of the race, and our real competitor is Germany. This means that in the future American exporters will have to fight for every dollar's worth of business they get even harder than they have in the past, for the German is more energetic, more aggressive and more resourceful than the Briton, and when it comes to the employment of modern methods of manufacture and marketing he is at least as up-to-date as the Yankee. Hereafter the race will be to the swift, and only the very swift will be able to [illegible].

POPULARITY OF THE AUTO.

IF OTHER proofs were lacking one need only glance at the attendance figures of the two automobile shows recently held in New York City to be convinced of the increasing popularity of the auto in this country. A further evidence of this fact is found in the unusually large number of people from all parts of the East and South who have gathered at Ormond, Fla., to witness the auto races now being held there. It is said that over [illegible] persons attended the two shows in New York, and that the gross sales of machines in connection with the exhibitions amounted to fully $10,000,000, of which $6,500,000 represented the sales of manufacturers to agents, while the balance represented sales to individual purchasers.

Such data must convince the most radical enemy of the motor car that it has come to stay. Furthermore, though it is still essentially a luxury, it is rapidly taking its place in the business world and is becoming a necessity as well. The leading retail establishments of our larger cities would find it a serious inconvenience to go back to the old team and wagon method of delivering packages, and even many smaller business firms find it to their advantage to use the automobile in handling their light freight. Auto racing is a sport in which only the reckless rich may indulge, but the auto as a city conveyance, either for freight or passenger use, is becoming almost as much a business necessity as it is a pleasure vehicle for the wealthy.

According to recently published statistics, 335 people were killed by street cars in Chicago last year, twelve by horse-drawn vehicles and five by automobiles. It is pointed out that there are 2,100 street cars in Chicago and 3,600 automobiles. This indicates that the death-dealing propensities of the auto have been greatly exaggerated and seems to bear out the assertion made by manufacturers of the vehicles that the number of accidents due to their use is diminishing, notwithstanding the rapidly increasing number of machines sold. It is probable that the greater perfection of the machines from year to year, and the agitation against reckless driving have tended to decrease the dangers of automobiling, and that these dangers will continue to grow less in the future. But there is still plenty of room for improvement, and devotees of the machine cannot point to the good record made in Chicago as an argument that the restrictions imposed by law should be removed or even lightened. So long as the dangers remain as great as they are now there will be found sensible and influential people who will oppose the motor car as a vehicle for general use.

Considering that it is still three years until the end of his term in the Presidency, the "admirers" of Mr. Roosevelt are doing a surprising amount of worrying over his future. He is already slated to become Senator from New York, president of Harvard, and president of the University of Chicago. The Senate is yet to be heard from, but it will suggest anything rather than a third term.

The delegates to the Algeciras conference are tired of the sleepy little Spanish town and want to get away, but it is said that the affair will probably last a month longer. When a long drawn out powwow is to be held Paris is the unanimous choice of the diplomats, for there they can at least have a good time while straightening out international tangles.

Senator Tillman's excuse that he was provoked by the taunts of a colleague into introducing his resolution asking for an investigation of the Mrs. Morris incident, confirms the suspicion that Tillman's political promotions have come too fast. He ought to be in the kindergarten instead of in the United States Senate.

The discovery by the Carnegie hero commission that no acts of heroism occurred during the burning of the steamer General Slocum, is almost, but not quite, as remarkable as the failure of the New York authorities to discover that anybody was responsible for the disaster.

This is a bad year for the strenuous sports. Both hazing and football have gone by the board, but so far as the former is concerned, no regrets will be felt except by the rowdies who find pleasure in torturing somebody else.

The Saturday Evening Post says that Representative Longworth owes all his political advancement to Boss Cox, of Cincinnati. Gracious! Is the President really going to take a boss-made politician into the family?

What's the matter with appointing Colonel Mann tax collector in New York? He seems able to get the money out of the millionaires when nobody else can.

While the Government is in the business of expelling hazers from Annapolis, why not expel the academy officials who winked at hazing, too?

Reading of that automobile at Ormond which went two miles in a minute makes one feel mighty glad that Ormond is a long way off.

PASSES AND LAWMAKING.

The muttering threats heard [illegible] the country of congressional and legislative [illegible] upon the railroads for their [illegible] more passes may be altogether [illegible] most shameless [illegible] of this [illegible] ing world [illegible] openly to support a measure [illegible] strike at the railroads in revenge for [illegible] of passes.

When General Grosvenor and [illegible] representatives the other day that it [illegible] sary to consider whether the compensation paid to railroads for carrying the mails [illegible] down at least $[illegible] it was [illegible] that the [illegible] congressman was [illegible] off of [illegible] off of railroad passes. We are [illegible] Grosvenor's reflection would [illegible] interpretation put upon his remarks [illegible] that the government pays the railroads $10,000,000 for carrying the mails [illegible] compensation ought to have been [illegible] sonable figures long ago, quite [illegible] to passes. [illegible] would be to confess that the Senate [illegible] of the House have been willing to [illegible] $10,000,000 of the people's money [illegible] in return for passes for themselves [illegible] the railroads have bribed congressmen [illegible] er house would make such a confession [illegible] rectly. The attempt to express [illegible] are congressional resentment for [illegible] passes would be suicidal.

It is well for themselves [illegible] that the railroads have determined [illegible] passenger's fare. It is very much [illegible] it is, indeed, the larger and higher [illegible] roads' decision that the legislators [illegible] of the states will be freed by it from [illegible] of an obligation they could not disregard [illegible] gratitude nor observe without disgrace. [illegible] and the acceptance of passes was a [illegible] and sordid mixing up of politics and [illegible] lic affairs and private undertakings [illegible] parent of that detestable brood of abuses [illegible] the protective tariff. It is a political [illegible] rupted corporations and made them [illegible] corruptors. It has poisoned legislation [illegible] parties and politics into disrepute [illegible] utations. Recent disclosures have [illegible] of the extent of the evil. There is [illegible] sition to put a stop to it. The abolition of passes is an important step in the [illegible]—New York Times.

Colorado Comment

COLORADO SHOULD BE PROUD.

Colorado has reason to be proud of its delegation in congress. During the past week Congressmen Brooks and Bonynge have made speeches on the sugar question that have attracted the attention of the entire country.—Arapahoe Herald.

The stock interests of the entire western country and especially those of Colorado, will greet the news with pleasure that Denver is to be made practical headquarters for the beef trust. Of course it is a trust that will spend eight millions of money, but if a trust must spend money we prefer it to spent it with the people of this state, than to spend it elsewhere. In our judgment the trust has at last found the true location for their great industry. Here is where the cattle are raised largely and here is where they could not only be marketed, but from whence should come all the products of the beef industry.—Grand Junction Daily Sentinel.

THE PEOPLE TO BLAME.

Senator Burton's third trial has resulted in conviction. It looks as if he would have to pay a large fine and maybe also go to jail. It is hum[illegible] [illegible] way, has climbed so high as a seat in the United States senate, should stoop to violate the laws of the land, as several senators have been doing the past year or two. It is very good evidence that the people are not taking sufficient pains in the selection of men for high stations. It may be necessary, if this era of corruption continues, to have candidates examined before they are placed upon tickets with a view to discovering whether they are honest men, or common thieves.—Fort Collins Evening Courier.

TIGHT TROUSERS HEREAFTER FOR ALECK.

Aleck Reddick had a narrow escape one day last week while husking corn for John Kirk. A rat ran up Aleck's pants leg, causing the owner of the leg to act very skiddish and undignified in his demeanor and to use some mildly blasphemous terms which he uses only on extraordinary occasions. The rat, seeing that things were not going to be pleasant and harmonious with Aleck in such a perturbed state of mind, hastily precipitated toward gravel, where it was immediately trod upon and transformed into a dead rat, never again to be enticed into the dark, unexplored regions of a big pants leg. Aleck is going back to the tight-fitting style of some years ago, which is much the safest in rat season.—West Lafayette (Ohio) Indicator.

EDITOR'S TIPS TO THE BAND.

We went over to hear the band boys practice at close range last night, and we think that some day they will be expert tootists. But a musical critic would probably find flaws in their playing, it being only their third rehearsal. In the first place he would likely call for a lesser grunt from Bilge Pitkin on the big horn, who certainly blows like Sam Hill so far as noise is concerned. Then Phil Hendershot ought to back pedal on that trombone, the critic would no doubt say, for he really jams it too hard down his throat. The bass drum is fine and slim Hart sure does thump it with braggadocio. A kind word would be said, too, for Fred Bailey, who twerdles the fife in great shape most of the time. The cornet takes the cake. There being four of them, at least two get their E's on the right key in every place. At present the bunch is what the critics call an "umpah pah" band, because waltz time alone is being exploited. All hail the band—may it some day equal Sousa's Royal Italian Red Band.—Paw Paw (Kas.) Bazoo.

The prime minister of Italy has [illegible] ary of $2[illegible] and the other members of the cabinet [illegible].

English Officials.

The members of the House of Parliament receive no compensation from the government, but in many cases they are supported by their constituents. For example, the labor members pay salaries to all of the representatives of the labor party in parliament—John Burns, Keir Hardy and others, so they are able to support their families and pay their own expenses. The members of the Irish party are supported by a similar method, and in several constituencies are trust funds are subscribed for the benefit of representatives who could not otherwise afford to accept a seat in parliament. The speaker of the house of commons receives a salary of $25,000 a year, the clerk of the house receives a salary of $[illegible] a year, the chief justice of England receives $[illegible] a year and the justices of the high court $25,000 to $[illegible]. This is on the theory that [illegible] jurists who are able to make [illegible] amount of money in private practice should not be asked to sacrifice a legitimate income when they take seats on the bench.

The lord high chancellor and the prime minister of Great Britain receive salaries of $50,000 a year and houses to live in. A large portion of their household expenses, such as fuel, light, servants' hire, etc., are also paid by the government. The principal members of the cabinet are paid $25,000 a year and the others $10,000 a year and the under secretaries—$8,000 and $10,000.

In Canada the governor general receives $50,000 a year and a house to live in; the prime minister, $[illegible], and the other members of the cabinet, $7,000. In the Australian colonies the prime ministers receive $9,100 and the other members of the cabinet $8,000. The members of the parliaments of the British colonies receive $1,500 a year.

South American Salaries.

The president of the Argentine Republic receives $36,000; the vice president, $18,000, and the members of the cabinet each $16,500, while the members of both houses of congress receive $12,[illegible] per year. The Argentine Republic is very generous with its officials, and not only gives them good salaries but pensions also. The congress recently voted the sum of $50,000 cash and a pension of $7,000 a year to the widow of the late Martin Garcia Merou, for[illegible] as a recognition of his public services. Mr. Merou had been a member of the cabinet and of the congress, and had served in several countries as minister. He was a man of great ability and a favorite in the diplomatic corps at Washington.

The salary of the president of Brazil is $35,000, and the members of parliament receive each $1,500 a year.

The president of Chile receives $15,000 a year salary and has an additional allowance of $18,000 for household expenses, carriages, entertainments and contingencies. The members of the Chilean congress receive $8 a day.

Most of the states of America pay their legislators a per diem, which is usually fixed by their constitution and cannot be changed except by a vote of the people. Rhode Island pays only $1 a day, but adds $100 per session for postage and traveling expenses, which is sufficient for that purpose, as distances in Rhode Island are very short. California pays $8 a day, which is the largest allowance. The other states pay $3, $4, $5 and $6 per diem, and in more than half of them there is a limit to the length of the session, so that the lawmakers cannot increase their compensation by delaying business. New York and Pennsylvania pay the members of their legislatures $1,500 a year each; Illinois, $1,000 a year; Massachusetts, $750; Ohio, $600; while the members of the legislature of Maine receive the munificent compensation of $150 a year.

The Pay of Congressmen.

Section VI of the Constitution of the United States provides that "the senators and representatives shall receive compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law and paid out of the treasury of the United States." So if they do not get all they are entitled to it is their own fault. They now allow themselves $5,000 a year and $12[illegible] each for postage and stationery, with mileage at the rate of 20 cents per mile, to be estimated by the nearest route usually traveled in going and coming from each session of congress. The Old Story of Too Much Red Tape.

When the South American commission was traveling on the other continent during the Arthur administration it had occasion to communicate by cable with the secretary of state on several different occasions. The comptroller of the treasury disallowed the charges because copies of the cablegrams, which were in cipher, were not submitted with the account, in order that the clerks of his office might determine whether it was necessary and proper to send them.

Nearly all of the hotel bills of the commission for a period of fourteen months in Mexico, Central and South America were disallowed because most of them were made out in the Spanish instead of the English language, and in many cases no evidence was submitted to show that the person who receipted them was authorized to receipt bills for the owners or managers of that particular hotel.

The charge for their steamship tickets was disallowed because a copy of the published rates for passengers was not appended with the account, to show that the charge was legitimate and not exorbitant.

While General Crook was following a hot trail for the Apaches some years ago down in the southwest he crossed the Mexican border and found himself at the foot of the mountains where the savages had taken refuge. OLD CUSTOM RETAINED.

Brooklyn papers tell of a millionaire resident of that city who lives with his wife in a handsome home. They are both past the middle age, but the happy couple retain one custom which they established in days when they were poor. The old lady cuts the old gentleman's hair. Economy of this kind at one time was a necessity with them and though that was long ago, the wife every two weeks says to her life partner: "Come, dear, it's time I cut your hair." And while the scissors snap they chat contentedly of times when they were young and struggling.

PNEUMONIA AND LA GRIPPE.

If you but knew the splendid merit of Foley's Honey and Tar you would never be without it. A dose or two will prevent an attack of pneumonia or la grippe. It may save your life. The prevention of consumption is entirely a question of commencing the proper treatment in time. Nothing is so well adapted to ward off fatal lung troubles as Foley's Honey and Tar. Y. M. C. A. NOTES

The boys of the Intermediate department of the Y. M. C. A. with their young lady friends celebrated a midsummer picnic in the boys' room in the Y. M. C. A. last night. The room was transformed into a park. In one corner was a well of lemonade which might be termed circus lemonade as it consisted of four gallons of water, two pounds of sugar and two lemons, the only thing it lacked was a little red coloring. In another corner was a campfire over which the boys and girls made coffee. A number of outdoor games were played.

The Rev. Dr. Tyler, of Denver, conducted his last Bible class at the Y. M. C. A. last night. Dr. Tyler will leave February 1 for an extended trip to Europe. A freewill offering was taken up at last night's services and the entire collection was presented to Dr. Tyler. The Rev. E. W. Work, of the First Presbyterian church will conduct the Friday night Bible classes in the future.

COURT NEWS

Mrs. R. M. Cook was given a verdict in the county court yesterday in her suit for divorce from J. K. Cook, upon the grounds of extreme and repeated acts of cruelty. The plaintiff alleged that the defendant had called her abusive names, had neglected the plaintiff for other women. The couple were married at Olathe, Kan., on September 18, 1881. Judge Robert Kerr granted the decree of divorce on the verdict.

J. M. Leeper has filed a petition in divorce proceedings in the county court in which it is charged that Anna Leener left the plaintiff about 14 months ago and took up her residence at Colorado City, where, it is alleged, she has associated with persons of a questionable character. The couple were married in this city on May 15, 1902.

In the case of Ed Nugent vs. the Colorado Springs and Cripple Creek District Railway company, an action for damages for the killing of a cow belonging to the plaintiff, the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff and fixed the damages at $40.

The district attorney nolled the case of the People vs. R. J. Burt in the district court yesterday. Burt was charged with false pretenses.

George T. Musgrove, 17 years old, who recently pleaded guilty to committing forgery by raising a check from $2 to $12, was given a lecture yesterday by Judge D. E. Lewis, who ordered that the boy be taken to the state reformatory at Buena Vista within five days.

Stubborn Coughs and Colds CURED BY FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR

Obstinate, racking Coughs that make your head ache, your throat and lungs sore and inflamed, that rob you of sleep until your system becomes so run down that you are in grave danger of Pneumonia or Consumption, are quickly cured by Foley's Honey and Tar.

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR

soothes and heals the inflamed air passages, allays the feverish conditions, stops the cough and prevents serious results from a cold.

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR

is the only prominent cough medicine on the market that does not contain opiates or harmful drugs of any kind and on this account is safest for children.

It is unexcelled for Croup and Whooping Cough and will quickly cure the racking cough which follows measles and leaves so many children with weak lungs unless properly treated.

Remember the name — Foley's Honey and Tar—and refuse substitutes that cost you the same as the genuine. Do not take chances with some unknown preparation.

Consumption Threatened.

C. Unger, 211 Maple St., Champaign, Ill., writes: "I was troubled with a hacking cough for a year and I thought I had consumption. I tried a great many remedies and I was under the care of physicians for several months. I used one bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar; it cured me, and I have not been troubled since."

Three sizes—25c, 50c, $1.00.

The 50 cent size contains two and one-half times as much as the small size and the $1.00 bottle almost six times as much.

Take Courage!

If you are naturally not as strong as your more fortunate sisters, and for this reason experience dread rather than joy at the prospect of becoming a mother, take courage and assurance from this fact. Mother's Friend is meant for you, and by its use you may pass through that glorious martyrdom which is yours by divine right with no more discomfort than that experienced by those who by nature are possibly more adapted for the role of motherhood.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

is a liniment of proven merit, and its great worth can be no better attested to than by the countless strong and healthy children who through its kindly offices have entered this world unhandicapped by any deformity or weakness. It is a liniment which by external application acts upon the abdominal muscles and permits of a painless parturition.

SPECIAL NOTICES

MY MAGAZINE "INVESTING FOR PROFIT," which I'll send free, is worth $10 a copy to any man who intends to invest any money, however small, who has money invested unprofitably, or who can save $5 or more per month, but who hasn't learned the art of investing for profit.

It demonstrates the REAL earning power of money, the knowledge financiers and bankers hide from the masses. It shows how to invest small sums and how to make them grow into fortunes—the actual possibilities of intelligent investments.

It reveals the enormous profits bankers make and shows how one can make the same profits safely.

It explains HOW stupendous fortunes are made and WHY they are made—how $1,000 grows to $22,000.

To introduce my magazine, write me NOW, mention this paper and I'll send it SIX MONTHS FREE.
